Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: In a series of conversations, the examiner told Ms. Dixon that the claims appeared to be free of the prior art but that claims 19 and 21 did not recite statutory subject matter as they are directed solely to computational and analysis (i.e. mental equivalent) steps. The examiner suggested several possible amendments to overcome this problem. In addition, the examiner suggested amendments to claims 23 and 24 to overcome rejections of record. Ms. Dixon stated that claim 23 intended to limit the entire molecular complex of claims 19 and 22, wherein the binding pockets of the complex are also limited as set forth in claims 19 and 22. Ms. Dixon informed the examiner that applicants wanted more time to consider claim amendments and requested that a written office be sent.
